

Please do not make any changes in law that would lessen Indiana's telephone privacy law protections. Prior to that law, we were disturbed by over ten calls per day trying to sell something. This was greatly disturbing. With the law, we receive only about one "junk" call per every two months. I am strongly opposed to allowing companies that think I am a current customer to call. That invades my free time significantly. Again, please do not make any changes that would change Indiana's law. Indiana has a very good law that works.
